Q1

Yes

Over the past two years, has your business been negatively affected by any disruptive or criminal behaviors from individuals whom you believe are homeless?

Q2

If your business has been negatively affected by disruptive or criminal behaviors from individuals whom you believe are homeless, please select one or more from the following.

I have lost business and/or employees because of the behaviors

My employees and/or customers have expressed concerns frequenting my business because of the behaviors

Myself, my staff, and/or my customers have been verbally or physically threatened by individuals I believe to be homeless

My property, or that of my staff's has been damaged or stolen by individuals I believe to be homeless

Q3

Yes

Do you, your employees, or your customers not feel safe because of individuals you believe to be homeless loitering in or around your location?

Q4

In the past two years, have you observed individuals whom you to believe to be homeless commit a crime (Select all that apply)?

Yes - Minor or Nuisance Crimes,

Yes - Moderate Crimes such Theft, Fighting, or Damaging Property

Yes - Serious Crimes such as Crimes Involving Drugs or Weapons

Q5

Yes

Q6

Things have gotten worse

Over the past three years, do you believe issues surrounding the homeless have gotten better, worse, or stayed the same?

Q7

Please provide a general address of your business that we can reliably map the areas where the most disruptive behaviors occur, allowing us to reach out with services and/or plan enforcement action/police presence for safety.

Hilton Garden Inn- 410 S 3rd

Q8

Please briefly provide any additional information you would like for the Coordinated Response for Homeless Services in Manhattan Working Group to know.

Guests have been negatively impacted by homeless loitering throughout the hotel/conf ctr. Guests have not felt safe in the parking garage retrieving their vehicle. Drugs and needles have been seen over in Blue Earth Park making it unsafe for families. Local services are trying but is often an excuse for some to linger in the state of non-improvement. They trash down our community limiting others to feel safe to walk, shop or enjoy an area. Outside visitors are taking notice too and passing along the word that Manhattan has got a problem. Those individuals are taking their money elsewhere. City staff and local leadership are behind the curve and liberal policies aren't going to right the ship. Bottom line is the general public shouldn't have to suffer because of poor choices and continued mistakes by others. A hand up to achieve self-reliance is a worthy goal. But continuing handouts with no legible improvement is a waste. Give them a bus ticket to somewhere else where they can get clean needles, slum amongst their peers and fulfill their life's dream of living with emptyness.

We have just seen more homeless in the Aggieville district, we havent had any criminal issues at our location but we have had customers more concerned over the increase of homeless in the district. The only things that I have personally seen is drinking on the streets and just sitting in front of businesses.

Q8

Please briefly provide any additional information you would like for the Coordinated Response for Homeless Services in Manhattan Working Group to know.

I believe the homeless issues are getting worse every day. While I believe most homelessness is a choice or a mental illness the homeless population often travels where life is the easiest. Through organizations such as Be Able we have made it easy to be homeless in Manhattan which does not benefit the community.

We now keep all entrances locked 24/7 after a homeless person wandered into our office multiple times talking nonsense and making people uncomfortable. 4+ years ago we didn't need to do that. In many interactions it's clear the person is high or intoxicated, which makes behavior unpredictable even though the individuals don't generally seem violent and aren't committing a crime.

Please briefly provide any additional information you would like for the Coordinated Response for Homeless Services in Manhattan Working Group to know.

We have 10 years of experience dealing with homeless people in the Aggieville area. We have a lot of insight and opinions regarding what could be done. We've had property damage, court dates, a minimum of 50 trespass cards issued, fights, drug and alcohol use, etc. Honestly our comments are more than I care to share on SurveyMonkey. I'm hope that something positive might come from the "working group". Thank you

It seems like the number of potentially homeless individuals on bikes has gone way up. I would like to see them pass a bike safety or protocol test before just given a bike. I have seen many unsafe actions and my friend had a guy follow her in her car for many blocks on Poyntz yelling at her.

We are just more careful when working in the evenings/nights-making sure we lock the doors. I think we are more aware of it because of our proximity to BeAble. One of my staff had an altercation with a man she suspected to be homeless that was riding his bike. It shook her up enough she debated calling the RCPD, but ultimately didn't find it worth the time/effort to report due to no one being hurt and no property being damaged. I used to park at my office and walk the few blocks to downtown but now I just drive there. In my "Things have gotten worse" I don't think it is a ton worse- I wish that had been a sliding scale answer.

Does RCPD or another entity track homeless population numbers? Is there any ground truth to suspicions that numbers have increased or that populations have merely shifted into new areas (away from river, railway, etc.)? The big internal debate here is: Is the overall homeless situation worse, or simply worse for us in our location? Answers might address some rumors and suspicions.

The general address refers to the current location of the office, which is currently safe. There are no activities taking place on that side of town. However, my business provides the ghost crews at night (Janitors). Over the past two years, I have received calls from staff members expressing concern about unusual behavior from specific individuals. For the most part, they need a place to sleep and try to take advantage of or seek the opportunity to approach the staff. Ultimately, I am glad my staff knows better not to let anyone in without access. Thank you for the survey!

We've had homeless people passed out (drunk) in front of our store. We occasionally have homeless people come in our store and talk erratically while customers are in store. One man even told my employees that he'd been struck by lightning 7 times and he would "kick all of our asses." The dumpster diving has also become an issue. I have no issues with them looking in the dumpster for cans, etc, but many times they tear trash bags apart and leave trash all over the alley, which we then have to pick up. It's definitely gotten worse over the last 2-3 years. Thank you for taking this matter seriously as it does have a negative effect on our local businesses.

I understand this is a very complex issue to solve. However every instance my staff or I have had to deal the individual has been under the influence and most of the time it doesn't seem alcohol alone. The general presence of homeless individuals is not a concern of mine. The bigger issue I've seen over the last few years is the increase in intoxicated/under the influence homeless that in turn are causing problems.

I'm a Former manhattan-based social worker turned business owner. It does appear the population has increased and the unhoused population is now more visible, and seeking shelter in various parts of town. I do not have a concern as a business owner, but I do have concerns about our pre-teen visiting places like anneberg park with friends and no adult presence

This is a truly terrible survey that is poorly construed. The language introduces significant bias and, if you're serious about assessing this, you need to rely in professionals to design a survey instrument and not have a staff tool distributed via survey monkey. Of course, every privileged business owner is going to answer "things are worse." What do you actually expect with that kind of thing?! Why not ask specifics of what makes it worse? Or better? Why is something bad - "in the last 6 months, how many times have the following _____ occurred" is a far better way of understanding what is real, versus the Karen response of "ewwww it's worse!" Simply because they can't understand anything different than the life they know. This survey is embarrassing. With as adequately funded as RcPD is, please try a bit harder.

We occasionally find individuals park and sleep in their vehicles overnight in our parking lot. We have not had any issues, but our team does alert me and I do ask them to leave. Always on heightened awareness when approaching and asking to leave by start of business. All have been compliant without issues. We do have staff that come in early and stay late and remind staff to be aware of their surroundings.

We have had an unhoused person who was sleeping near our front door who startled one of our employees as she came into work a few years ago. We added some timer light which we think helped, but it made us question the safety of our employees. We have also had people passed out near our entrance before that we had reason to believe were under the influence of a substance of some sort. This is not something we we have worried about 10 years ago, which is why I feel it has gotten worse.

While the behaviors have not been dangerous or harmful, loitering has caused fear and avoidance of using the bus stops. It has caused not only riders, but local business to be considered that the bus stop is providing a place for unhoused individuals to remain, ultimately putting them closer to their places of business where further disruption could occur.

Westloop Bus Shelter

Q8

Please briefly provide any additional information you would like for the Coordinated Response for Homeless Services in Manhattan Working Group to know.

While Bus shelters are intended to provide a safe space for patrons to wait for the bus system, they are not intended to be a place where individuals can sleep or camp. We are happy to ensure the unhoused population has access to bus passes as they already face many other barriers, but loitering/sleeping at the shelters is not allowed due to it often deferring other riders by the perceived risk of the environment. The Westloop Businesses have expressed concern that the shelter could be providing a space for individuals to "camp" and then in as a result, this individuals seek out their businesses for other amenities they cannot provide. We want to work to be part of a safe and healthy solution for all and hate having to call RCPD for assistance with unhoused individuals at the stop, as forced removal or jail is not a desire of ours at all, but we also see the need to ensure our riders feel safe and capable of accessing the system at all times, and that we remain in good standing with the local business community. Please let us know how we can help.

Yes - Minor or Nuisance Crimes,

Yes - Moderate Crimes such Theft, Fighting, or Damaging Property

Q5

Have disruptive behaviors by individuals you believe to be homeless negatively affect the property valuation of your business?

Other (please specify):

Unsure how to answer this. Our value to the community is directly linked to being accessible, clean, and inviting. Often times individuals with sever hygiene issues do not help create an inviting environment, one where people want to be or bring their children.

Q6

Over the past three years, do you believe issues surrounding the homeless have gotten better, worse, or stayed the same?

The Manhattan Public Library - 629 Poyntz

Q8

Please briefly provide any additional information you would like for the Coordinated Response for Homeless Services in Manhattan Working Group to know.

Question #3 is more complicated than a yes/no answer. There are definitely times with some individuals that staff and/or have not felt safe but it usually isn't because people who appear homeless are in the building. There are behaviors and activities (usually being intoxicated) that make folks feel unsafe. We have a robust Customer Conduct policy that helps us set expectations for our patrons. When we explain those expectations, often times individuals will comply but we are seeing new people, who seem a little more desperate, or deeper into an addiction or mental illness, and longer into a chronic homeless situation, who have no regard for how to behavior, take no direction, and show no consideration for others. We have experienced an increase in those type of interactions, the kind that lead to need for police involvement. And the more often staff have those experiences, the quicker we are to call RCPD.

Downtown MHK on Poyntz between 4th and 5th

Q8

Please briefly provide any additional information you would like for the Coordinated Response for Homeless Services in Manhattan Working Group to know.

I live and work downtown. I see people experiencing homelessness every day in downtown MHK, walking by my house or business, doing what they must. They are mostly quiet, respectful, often giving a wave when our paths cross. My place of business, and home and property have not been damaged; I don't feel unsafe; I haven't had thefts or threats. Occasionally someone asks for money. Even when I can't give, they have been respectful. In a few instances when someone clearly was in a mental health crisis, I have called for help (police or crisis services) so they can get the care they need. What stands out to me is that homelessness is not so much about crime or danger, but about vulnerability and policy: the rising gap between what people can afford and what housing costs; the lack of supportive systems when mental health, substance abuse, or lack of income intersect. I believe solutions work best when we maintain compassion and preserve dignity. We need to avoid criminalization of poverty, offering pathways out rather than pushing people around. Continued support of Be Able, MESI, shelters, Common Table, etc should be a priority. Homelessness is not a crime, and the community needs to be better educated about how they can help, rather than be afraid.

there are individuals sleeping out on sidewalks, episodes of either mental health or drug abuse situations leading to unsafe environments for our employees, individuals passed out around our building during day light hours or hiding out in our building to take shelter through the evenings after the facilities are locked, an abandoned apartment complex in the area where people are breaking into and taking up residence and doing illegal actions, etc. It is becoming extremely concerning for our employees as they come in through the early mornings or even in the evening. We have called RCPD on multiple occasions to have individuals escorted off our property due to various situations.

I'd like the homeless population to have better housing resources, assistance with job placement, and mental health resources. Be Able does a great job with assisting that population with resources and I'd like to see them receive more funding to grow and continue to help these people.

Real Estate agent. Our office is on the west side of town and we have had homeless people sleeping on our benches and coming into our office asking where the liquor store is. My clients do not want to buy houses in these areas because they see homeless nearby and worried about crime.

Q8

Please briefly provide any additional information you would like for the Coordinated Response for Homeless Services in Manhattan Working Group to know.

This situation is WAAAAAYYY worse. People are coming to MHK because we have resources such as Be Able. This organization is truly creating more of a risk for our community by having people come from other areas (even as far as Oklahoma) which is not acceptable. Please do not let us become the next Topeka.

I think things like Be Able have really helped the homeless population, but over the past few years, it still seems like the homeless population has increased. I was at a conference in Wichita a couple weeks ago and someone from the H.O.T. program with the police department presented and it was incredible. They have 4 agents in all of Wichita on this Homeless Outreach Team. They have helped over 1000 homeless people get off the street and get jobs and secure living. I would love to see something like this in Manhattan!

I feel that there are organizations and nonprofits in the Manhattan area that make it too easy to stay homeless. They're enabled and it's just too beneficial. I worry that people are coming to Manhattan because of the benefits for homeless people. I worry for the safety of my children and property values in the ability to continue to be a business owner in town. I am a licensed real estate agent so I need to confidently sell this town to people everyday. It's becoming concerning for sure. We are not Topeka or any other large city, nor do I want to be one. Please let me know if there's anything else I can do to help

The individuals who live along the railroad track frequently shoplift and make other customers/team members feel unsafe. We have had to increase our video camera coverage due to property damage. We have reached out when they are sleeping in the street but have been told they aren't committing a crime so there is nothing they can do. They are in the middle of the street, in danger of being run over.

Please provide a general address of your business that we can reliably map the areas where the most disruptive behaviors occur, allowing us to reach out with services and/or plan enforcement action/police presence for safety.

Corner of 5th and Houston

Q8

Please briefly provide any additional information you would like for the Coordinated Response for Homeless Services in Manhattan Working Group to know.

I had a homeless person approach me and ask me for money for a bus ticket to California. I told them I did not have my money with me. They insisted they follow me back to my work and I told them that made me uncomfortable. They were respectful and went on their way. Later I was told that the Manhattan Emergency Shelter will buy a one way ticket. I wish I would have known that information so I could have pointed this person in the right direction. Not sure how to get that info where it needs to be.

Homelessness in Manhattan is hilariously low - I have lived in multiple cities in multiple states with much higher homelessness. If you truly seek to 'fix' Manhattan homelessness, address the housing crisis and provide housing and mental health aid to ALL.

There needs to be serious discussion about Be Able. The men who operate this organization make money in grants and donations- not just the organization, them personally. We don't need to be the state homeless industrial complex for central Kansas. LOTS of new faces in the homeless population downtown and how and why did they come here? If this is t addressed, it will ruin your downtown. D

Please briefly provide any additional information you would like for the Coordinated Response for Homeless Services in Manhattan Working Group to know.

We occasionally have visitors who are likely unhoused, but they've always been polite and not caused disruptions. We do have a couple staff who have experience working around those who are experiencing homelessness and that makes a big difference. I think it could be beneficial for this "working group" to consider education and training for businesses on how to compassionately respond to persons who are either unhoused or behaving erratically. Example: our business once had a family come in who showed signs of being meth users; I've worked with similar behaviors before and handled their transaction and overall felt very positive about the interaction, answered their questions, etc, while another staff member helped as well and seemed fine. It was only after this family left that my staff member expressed they had been frightened and uncertain how the situation would play out. My experience and training had given me confidence, but my coworker who was not familiar felt unsafe, because they didn't have the tools to read their behavior and respond appropriately.

The homeless havent really caused alot of issues with more serious issues, like weapons and drugs and such, it just more that they are here from time to time, hanging out in our downstairs lobby, hanging around in the garage or using our restrooms for naps and cleaning. I feel for them and wish there circumstances were better, but they do make our staff and guests un easy at times.

Whatever you do, please do not criminalize homelessness as this has been proven by research to be ineffective, and it only worsen the problem. Issues have gotten "worse" because there are more community members who need help. We need to solve the root causes of homelessness in our community and trust subject matter experts like MESI to help inform solutions. The fears I've experienced when encountering our unhoused population exist only because I don't know if someone may behave erratically due to drug or alcohol abuse or a mental health disorder. I've never actually been directly threatened or harmed by anyone before. The majority of the time these individuals want to be productive members of our community, but our systems make it incredibly difficult for them to do so. They don't deserve to be punished or treated as pariahs when they're trying to survive on a daily basis. Humanity goes a long way.

Q8

Please briefly provide any additional information you would like for the Coordinated Response for Homeless Services in Manhattan Working Group to know.

I am concerned that we are providing such great services to our homeless population that we are attracting homeless from other areas of the state and country. I would rather spend the same amount of resources on the homeless that are actually our residence. I would also advocate that there is accountability for the folks receiving assistance and that they have some course of being a contributing member of society.

We have lost business, staff, Lost sense of security, lost sense of family community involvement massively. It is out of control and nothing is being done. No Action is being taken action other than the fact more seem to be getting dropped off in our town that we pay taxes in. The parking garage is a potential death trap. Why does our city NOT WANT TO AVOID CRIME BUT ATTEMPS TO RESOLVE THE CRIME THATS ALREADY TAKEN PLACE!!! THIS IS ALL AVOIDABLE BY TAKING ACTION IN MAKING OUR COMMUNITY SAFE HOW IT USE TO BE. THE CITY MANAGER HAS BEEN INVISIBLE TO ALL BUSINESSES IN BLUE EARTH WHO ARE GREATLY AFFECTED FINANCIALLY, EMOTIONALLY, AND PHYSICALLY. IT is sad to hear that we are the New Topeka or in waiting. The city officials are an absolute joke and rcpd is right behind them if they can't protect the best interest of their citizens why are they employed or living here? Are they a part of the bigger problem or is this their wish to corrupt a use to be Idyllic community! Gross and shame on everyone!

Over the past three years, do you believe issues surrounding the homeless have gotten better, worse, or stayed the same?

Q7

Please provide a general address of your business that we can reliably map the areas where the most disruptive behaviors occur, allowing us to reach out with services and/or plan enforcement action/police presence for safety.

Downtown/Poyntz

Q8

Please briefly provide any additional information you would like for the Coordinated Response for Homeless Services in Manhattan Working Group to know.

Homeless people are also citizens of our city and have as much right to be in public places as any of the rest of us - perhaps instead of trying to displace or incarcerate our local homeless population, we could help direct them to resources and support organizations that provide them with housing and healthcare.

Q8

Please briefly provide any additional information you would like for the Coordinated Response for Homeless Services in Manhattan Working Group to know.

Manhattan Emergency Shelter is becoming overwhelmed with out of state homeless, brought in by Be Able most likely. MESI prioritizes local homeless so when someone from out of state is turned away they often turn to degrading MESI's services, or disrupting their services for others. We need a better idea as to why these people are coming to our community and becoming a nuisance.

I am an employee who works in the office building on weekdays.

Homeless people's vehicles are often parked for extended periods in the public parking lot. This becomes an issue when they leave trash and collect things in and around their vehicle. We've also had to remove benches and tables in the office complex due to loitering. There's currently a drug addict set up in a Ford explorer and accumulating trash around their car.

Q8

Please briefly provide any additional information you would like for the Coordinated Response for Homeless Services in Manhattan Working Group to know.

On the west side of Manhattan we have experienced homelessness, yet it is not disruptive to businesses. It exists and Manhattan has historically handled it well. Based on general knowledge and observation, I feel there are some newer agencies in town that have contributed to the growing "homeless" population by bringing individuals from out of town/county/state to Manhattan to receive resources. It is somewhat unfair that our local dollars are spent to support those not permanently in our community. And those new transplants to the area are sometimes receiving services that should be supporting our own population of homeless individuals or families in unfortunate situations.

I am downtown every day and always see homeless people walking around or loitering in places they shouldn't be. While not all of them are a danger or threat, it would be nice to see something done before anything bad happens instead of after the fact.

The homeless essentially are making Griffith Park their home. They will steal any piece of trash out of our dumpster that looks somewhat valuable. Kids play on these fields and having trash everywhere they play is disappointing. We have called the police but are told that "dumpster diving" isn't illegal. The homeless have made Griffith Park an unwelcoming place for kids to play.
